Trinity Boston Counseling Center (TBCC)

206 Clarendon Street
 Boston MA 02116
 (617) 536-0944 x 346
www.trinityinspires.org/tbcc
tbcc@trinityinspires.org

- TBCC offers a safe place and trained therapists who are ready to accompany clients on their journey to healing. They listen for stress, trauma, and exposure to violence so that they may help.
- Individual Counseling: For those seeking to transform their lives, TBCC offers a safe place and trained therapists who are ready to accompany clients on their journey to healing. We listen for stress, trauma, and exposure to violence so that we may help.
- Training & Workshops: Often, providers of social and ministerial services are themselves underserved – especially those focused on issues of high-risk youth, poverty, social and economic injustice, and violence. TBCC offers training and support to these providers around issues encountered in their professional experience, as well as the personal toll that such work often takes.
- Embedded Clinicians: TBCC has partnered with a number of youth-serving organizations to provide an on-site clinical presence for youth and youth workers. We have found that individuals are more likely to access mental health services through a trusted source. TBCC offers a range of services, including individual counseling for youth and/or youth workers, staff trainings, and crisis management. Partners include: Boston Center for Youth & Families: Street Workers Program; City Year; Department of Youth Services; Fenway High School; and the PACT Initiative (Boston Public Health Commission).
- Support Groups: TBCC offers support groups that are open to the Boston community. Groups are led by TBCC clinicians and meet weekly at Trinity Church for at least six sessions. Recent topics have included: mindfulness-based stress reduction, divorce, and loss/bereavement.

- MJE works at the grassroots level to identify and support motivated community members, particularly mothers, since we believe empowered and engaged mothers, working together, are key to ending neighborhood violence. They act as a catalyst for our members to convene and to empower themselves through education and engagement opportunities.
 - Their operating model hinges on two key mechanisms:
 1. Education empowers MJE members by providing the leadership tools they need to take action and make change.
 2. Engagement includes public actions and campaigns that challenge the normalization of violence, providing members with opportunities to act as catalysts for change at home and advocates for change in their community.

- The Boston TenPoint Coalition (BTPC) is an ecumenical group of Christian clergy and lay leaders working to mobilize the community around issues affecting Black and Latino youth.
 - The Boston TenPoint Coalition's programs are unique because they:
 - Focus on some of our communities "troubled youth," youth that other agencies most frequently are unable to serve. We work with high-risk youth as their shattered lives and dreams are reflected in their violent and oftentimes callous and/or self-destructive behaviors.
 - Operate in collaboration with other community-based, governmental, and private sector institutions that are also committed to the revitalization of the families and communities in which our youth are raised. By working with other institutions, we reduce duplication of effort.

Services:

- Immigration Counseling: Recognized as a voluntary agency by the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), the program provides counseling in the areas of initial entry into the U.S., change of status from immigrant or refugee to permanent resident and the application procedure for citizenship. The program also assists clients in petitioning to bring immediate family members – spouses, children, parents and siblings – into the United States.
- Housing Counseling: The housing counselor helps clients to find suitable housing – often low income, elderly or government subsidized. The counselor also assists clients in matters of housing code enforcement, tenant-landlord relationships, home buying and home ownership issues, and rehabilitation assistance.
- Job Counseling and Placement: A job developer and a job counselor provide assistance in employment counseling, job development and job placement. The counselor also oversees the Chinatown Summer Youth Jobs Program.
- College Access: The counselor specializes in assisting foreign-born prospective college students in application processing, financial aid and career counseling. This service offers immigrants a chance to pursue a college education, particularly those adults who have earned credits in other countries but must negotiate the transfer of those credits with their new schools. This service is provided in collaboration with the TERI College Planning.
- Welfare and Benefits Assistance: The MSC counselor provides clients with assistance and counseling on both Federal and State benefits, including: SNAP (Former Food Stamp Program), Emergency Aid to Elderly, Disabled and Children (EAEDC), Transitional Aid to Families with Dependent Children (TAFDC), Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). The counselor also assists clients to file applications and prepare all necessary documents.
- Fuel Assistance: The Fuel Assistance program is a federally-funded program providing assistance to families to help them pay their bills during the heating season. The program also provides assistance to those applicants with heat included in their rent. AACA is one of the intake sites for ABCD's Fuel Assistance Program. Areas covered are Boston, Newton, and Brookline. Applications are accepted from November 1 to April 30.
- Information and Referral: Information and referral is provided in cases which require services not offered at the Multi-Service Center. Referrals are made to a wide network of community and government agencies as necessary.
- Tax Preparation and Assistance: Every tax season from January to April, AACA helps speakers of foreign languages to prepare and file their federal and state income tax returns.
- Family and Individual Counseling: The counselor provides assistance to individuals and families struggling to overcome problems related to social and emotional adjustment in a new country. The counselor also conducts public seminars on survival skills and the American world of work.

A care coordinator is assigned to work with your youth and family that have enrolled in ICC. The care coordinator is responsible for working with you to:

- Complete a risk management and safety plan
- Conduct a comprehensive home-based assessment of your youth's and family's strengths and needs
- Bring together a planning team of people the family identifies (e.g. teachers, state agency workers, friends, neighbors, etc) to help support your youth and family
- Facilitate development of an individual care plan (ICP) that guides your family and team in working toward the goals you choose
- Make sure the services and supports are in place and are helping your youth and family as planned
- Family Support and Training

Family Partners are experienced caregivers of youth with special needs. The family partner works closely with you-the parent(s) or caregiver(s) of the youth by:

- Teaching how to move through the youth-serving systems
 - Helping locate services and supports in the community
 - Developing supportive connections
 - Supporting and coaching you in reaching goals identified in the ICP

the reception area, parents can use the computers to build their resume and search for jobs, and they can come with their children and work on homework. Telephones are made available to call different resources, to inquire about services, to renew services, and more. We also have several parenting books available.

- The Child's Room is equipped with toys and books to create a fun space for families to interact. Parents can come to meet with a resource worker and allow their children to play during the meeting. Regular children's activities are held in this space to encourage parent-child interaction and educational growth for the child.
 - The Center also prides itself in its Family Resource Workers, who can help families navigate through the system- from finding resources to filling out applications to home and office visits.
 - Finally, with enough notice, the Family Resource Center is able to utilize Urban Edge's Conference Room Space for family educational groups, activities, and community support.

Substance Abuse

Bridge Over Troubled Waters

47 West Street

Boston MA, 02111

(617)423-9575 x210

www.bridgeotw.org

- Transitional Day Program – The Transitional Day Program (TDP) provides a drop-in center for homeless and street youth who require basic survival services and a safe place to spend time off of the streets. It is open from 8:00 am until 4:30 pm, Monday through Friday, offering breakfast, lunch, showers, laundry and lockers as well as access to Case Managers who can provide support, referrals and crisis counseling. Youth who reside at the Emergency Shelter utilize the TDP for dinner, extended hours and weekends.
- Counseling & Substance Abuse Services – Substance abuse counseling at Bridge is a regularly scheduled, goal oriented process that incorporates problem-solving, relational, and cognitive methods. Bridge clinicians are trained in multiple modalities including cognitive behavioral therapy, motivational interviewing and solution focused therapy. Group counseling focuses on such issues as emotional management, early recovery, and sober living. Through group counseling, youth develop trust, build supportive relationships and learn positive methods for dealing with emotions that might otherwise be expressed in destructive ways or suppressed by drug use.
- Education and Career Development - Bridge’s GED Program provides self-paced study, tutoring, and individual and group instruction to youth at every grade level to support their goal of earning their GED. The Workforce Development Program provides a wide range of job-training competencies, including a Professionalism and Computer Training course. Through the GED to College Pathways program, students are taught skills they need to successfully navigate college life and are introduced to the post-secondary academic environment.
- Street Outreach/Mobil Medical Van – Street Outreach Workers seek out runaway and homeless youth on the streets of Boston and the surrounding communities and intervene by offering support, treatment and alternatives to street life. Outreach is an essential tool for reaching the runaway and homeless youth population. The Mobile Medical Van provides medical intervention, education, counseling and nutrition (sandwiches/beverages).
- Runaway Services - Bridge is the primary responder for calls to the National Runaway Switchboard (NRS) from the Boston area. Through the Bridge Emergency Hotline, adolescents can contact a runaway counselor at any time of the day or night to discuss their crisis or to receive emergency housing. Runaway Counselors work with youth and, whenever possible, with parents and other family members to resolve the conflict that led to the crisis and return youth to a supportive, safe environment. Bridge provides runaway youth and their families open access to the support and opportunities they need to ensure that their immediate and long-term needs are met. Bridge runaway services are offered apart from the traditional social service and juvenile justice systems. All services are voluntary and free.
- Medical and Dental Services – Bridge provides a dental clinic on rotating Monday and Tuesday nights through volunteers from the community and local university dental schools. Medical services are provided on our Medical Outreach Van through community volunteers.
- Residential Services – Bridge provides a Transitional Living Program and a Maternal Group Home for homeless youth and single mothers who need support while completing their education and building skills for independence.

- Shelter Services - The Bridge Emergency Youth Shelter takes young adults directly off the streets of Boston and provides them with a safe, bed and seamless access to a continuum of services that allows them to further their education, build job skills, and address issues such as addiction and mental illness so they may transition successfully into independent living.
 - Program keywords: Homeless and runaway, throwaway youth. Youth at risk
 - Target population: 14 to 24 years old
 - MBTA Accessibility: Street T and multiple bus lines
 - Handicap Accessibility? Yes
 - How to access services: Walk-in or referral

Services:

- Transitional Housing: For those who need short-term, safe, supportive housing, our Transitional Housing Program provides communal housing for up to sixteen survivors and their children in two facilities in a suburban location where families can live for up to two years.
- Children Services: Children who have witnessed the abuse of a parent suffer from much the same trauma as children who have been abused themselves. This organization seek to interrupt the intergenerational “cycle of abuse” by helping children of domestic violence survivors heal from the damaging effects of what they have experienced and witnessed.
- Their children's services include the following: Afterschool Program, Child and Family Services, Children’s Mentoring Program
- Emergency Financial Resources: Their Liz Kirsch Opportunities Fund provides emergency financial aid for rental security deposits, school and licensing fees, car payments, or utility bills. Often this short-term, one-time funding is the crucial resource that enables a survivor to stay on a plan for independence.
- Mentoring: Their IMAGINE Mentoring Program pairs survivors with qualified volunteer role models who assist them in their journey toward achieving personal and professional goals in a supportive relationship.
- TSS Moves: Their TSS Moves Program assists survivors in establishing their new homes by pairing them with staff and volunteers who help them acquire furniture and household goods and do the physical move.
- Holiday Gift Drive: Their annual year-end gift drive engages members of the community, including local schools and clubs, in bringing holiday magic to families recovering from domestic violence by turning their holiday wish lists into reality.

Staff maintain a weekly presence in the Somerville and Malden District Courts and work closely with the victim witness advocate program run by the Middlesex County District Attorney's Office.

- Children's Services that help parents to meet their children's education, health care and out-of-school needs. RESPOND also leads parenting groups, literacy activities, and works to improve prenatal care.
- High Risk Assessment Teams designed to minimize harm or lethality to survivors of high risk domestic abuse cases by providing a multidisciplinary approach to coordinate a community response including: immediate crisis interventions and long-term stabilization of survivors of domestic violence and identifying, monitoring and containing high risk offenders. RESPOND is the lead is the lead agency of the Somerville High Risk Assessment Team, Stoneham High Risk Assessment Team and Co-founder of the Cambridge, Arlington and Belmont Team.
- Outreach and Education Activities through which RESPOND addresses the root causes of domestic violence via community education and outreach initiatives designed to raise public awareness about domestic violence, educate the community to recognize signs of abuse and promote healthy relationships. Staff commonly provide trainings for law enforcement officials, healthcare professionals, local civic and religious groups, high school and college students and other human service providers.
- Emergency shelter has been the cornerstone of RESPOND's services since the agency's founding in 1974. Safe, confidential shelter remains a critically necessary last resort for survivors of domestic violence in grave danger with no other resources or available supports.
- RESPOND's emergency shelter is located at a site known only to immediate staff and residents. Services are available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.
